About the Speaker: Paul Foley

Paul Michael Foley is Managing Partner of the retail and FMCG focused international strategy consulting company Foley Retail Consulting.

Paul Foley has previously held the position of Executive Board member at Iceland Foods Ltd, overseeing international expansion and had been a Supervisory board member at EKO holdings Poland, a 300-store retail business, since 2012. He was for 20 years Group Managing Director for UK and Ireland at ALDI, with personal operation experience in 10 countries covering Europe, US and Australia. During his tenure Paul Foley served on ALDI's international management board.

In the CEE region Paul Foley and his team have been operating in Russia (Dixy, O'key Group), Poland (Jerónimo Martins, Eko), Turkey (A101, BİM, Şok), Ukraine and Belarus. Currently the company is taking part in the establishment of Russia's first western style discount food retailer. Foley Retail Consulting has recently broadened its field of expertise to pharmacy retail, fuel station retail and introduction of branded goods into discount.

In addition to his board memberships and consulting work, Paul Foley has a rich experience as a trainer and speaker. Analysts, private equity investors, industry leaders and students are core audiences, focus locations being Great Britain, Russia and US. Next University lectures will be given in Minsk in October 2014.
